MARRIAGE NOTICES FROM THE CENTRAL GAZETTE, 1820-1827

Abstracted by WILLIAM M. E. RACHAL

The first Charlottesville, Virginia, newspaper was a typical four-page weekly called The Central Gazette. It began publication on January 29, 1820, and for more than seven years recounted the events of the time to residents of Albemarle and neighboring counties. In July 1827 its successor, The Virginia Advocate, took over the task.

The Alderman Library of the University of Virginia has a complete file of The Central Gazette from its beginning until September 20, 1822. Only scattered issues for the subsequent period have survived, but all known copies have been consulted in compiling these marriage notices.

"Obituaries from The Central Gazette, 1820-1827," abstracted by William M. E. Rachal, was published in Papers of the Albemarle County Historical Society, Volume X (1949-1950), pp. 31-38.
